THE COVER—Rho chapter's Sue Muelhaupt is an honor student at Nebraska. She and her counterparts in every chapter have their eyes on those honoraries which so well symbolize collegiate achievement. And every Theta knows that the girls who earn membership in such groups are the pillars which give essential strength to our chapters.

Representative of the many sought-after honoraries, both local and national, to be found on every campus are those whose pins are pictured on our cover. From top to bottom they are: Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic; Mortar Board, leadership; Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholastic; Pi Kappa Lambda, music; Kappa Delta Pi, education; Rho Chi, pharmacy, and Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce.

Eleven Chapters Lead Campuses in Scholarship

Eleven Theta chapters received first place in scholarship among the Panhellenic groups on their campuses during the 1952-53 school year.

Leading the honors winners were: California, Iowa State, Nebraska, and Oregon State. Those four chapters ranked first for the entire year of either two semesters or three quarters.

Other chapters which ranked first either for one semester or for two consecutive quarters are: Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio Wesleyan, Texas, and Washburn.

Chapters which seemingly dragged their heels scholastically throughout the year included; DePauw (which ranked seventh and ninth for two semesters among ten groups); William & Mary (seventh and ninth out of nine); Southern Methodist (tenth and eleventh out of twelve); Connecticut (seventh and seventh out of nine); New Mexico (seventh and seventh out of seven); Allegheny (sixth and fifth out of seven); Randolph-Macon (ninth and seventh out of nine); and Idaho (sixth and seventh out of eight).

Chapters which failed to send in the required information to the scholarship chairman were: Minnesota, Syracuse, Vanderbilt, Rollins, and Tulsa. Only incomplete information was supplied by a number of other chapters.

No information was available on any of the Canadian chapters.

In the chart below are listed the scholastic standings of all Theta chapters among the Panhellenic groups on their campuses. These records were compiled by Martha Boyd White, national scholarship chairman.

Here Is Your Latest Convention Information

From all sections of the country comes enthusiastic response for the 1954 convention at the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec. The convention managers and the executive committee are busy with plans to make this a smoothly run and efficient convention as well as to provide unusual and entertaining social events.

Grand Council has planned a fine program which includes general fraternity business, discussion of matters pertaining to actives and alumnae, inspirational speakers, and the fitting climax of the formal banquet. The convention program will be printed in more detail in the Spring issue of the magazine.

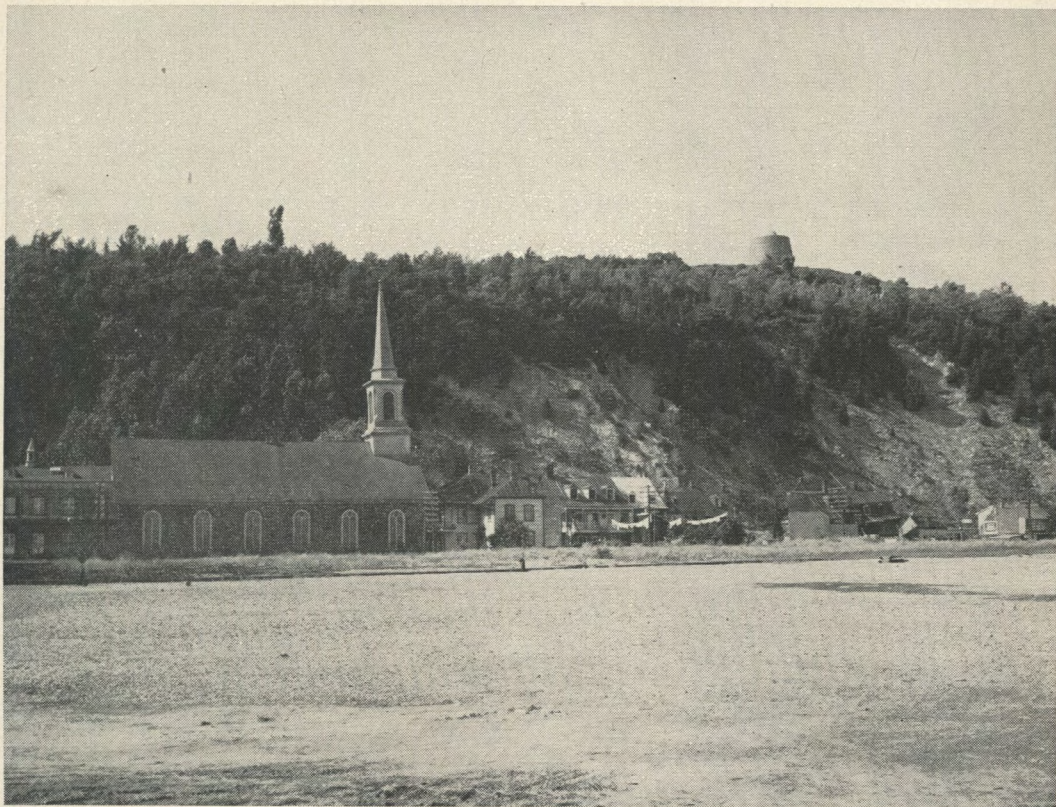

One of the outstanding features of each convention is fun night. Since Quebec has so much of the old world atmosphere and the majority of its inhabitants speak French, the theme of the evening will be "A French Street Cafe." Here everyone enters into the spirit of the evening and dresses in costume. This will really offer a wide choice, as anything French—ancient or modern, noble or peasant—will be in keeping with the atmosphere. Perhaps you might be Marie Antoinette or Champlain, a nun or fur trader, Camille or Lafayette. The possibilities are limitless. Brush up on your French and start thinking about your costume.

Read carefully all the information about convention in this issue. We hope that all who possibly can will travel on the special either from Chicago or Detroit. Be sure to send in your reservations, both for the special and the Chateau Frontenac.

Bienvenue à Quebec

With grace and old world charm, the City of Quebec extends a warm welcome to Kappa Alpha Theta.

Plan now to be among those fortunate delegates boarding the Special Train the morning of Friday, June 18. Enjoy the thrill and excitement of meeting old friends and renewing old acquaintances—the pleasure of luncheon in the dining car while our train speeds through the cities and towns of Indiana and Michigan. A stop will be made at Detroit where many more will join our party before we cross the international border into Ontario and continue our journey, passing such cities as Windsor, Chatham, London, Woodstock, Galt and Toronto. This last mentioned metropolis is Canada's largest English-speaking city.

Next morning, while enjoying the excellent cuisine in the Canadian Pacific dining car, our train approaches the outskirts of Montreal, and in the distance outlined against the sky we see Mount Royal with its Cross of Maisonneuve, the founder of that city. This large metropolitan center is the largest Canadian city and also the second largest French-speaking city in the world.

Swiftly we journey through the Province of Quebec, observing the small habitant farms and the quaint old villages. In the distance we see one of the largest bodies of water, the St. Lawrence River, and the name brings back thoughts of such explorers and adventurers as Joliet, LaSalle, Champlain and Marquette.

The great expectation is now realized as our Special Train enters Palais Station located at the foot of the ramparts. Here we commence our drive up steep Palais Hill, Rue de Fabrique, passing shops and homes that date back to Champlain, the founder, to our Convention Castle, the beautiful Chateau Frontenac, designed in Normandy architecture and built on the site of the Governor's Palace of New France. Here with the charm and dignity of a very gracious lady, the Chateau welcomes you to a convention that will long remain a very happy memory.

The Beautiful St. Lawrence and Saguenay Rivers Afford Post-Convention Jaunts

By the CONVENTION MANAGERS

A journey to the Saguenay and return—a trip that no one visiting Quebec can afford to forego. Such a journey is ours as we board our palatial white steamer with wide-spreading decks, lovely appointments, and excellent cuisine. This is only a forerunner of our trip into the pages of history and romance. We depart early in the morning after a fine breakfast. We relax in comfortable deck chairs, anticipating the beauties to be unfolded before us, and to capture if we can the romance and history of days long past.

Skirting the north shore, we have a splendid view of the ruggedness of the scenery of the magnificent river and the Laurentian mountains. Here a little French village with its church steeples conspicuously predominant, or there a hamlet reminiscent of Normandy. Approaching Murray Bay there appears in the headland, fringed around by a background of trees, and chateau roofs of the Manoir Richelieu. Beyond are the Laurentians, clothed in varied hues of blue and green. Here we linger a short time.

A "must" on our delightful program is a carriage drive up the hill to the magnificent Manoir Richelieu in this pine-scented Laurentian paradise, a visit to the home spun shop, and a view of the beautiful scenery from the terrace of this old-world-like manor house. This interlude awakens the desire to again visit this lovely spot with the enchanting atmosphere when we can spend more time.

Our next stop is Tadoussac, Canada's oldest and most historic settlement. Here Champlain first landed. Daring fur-traders of the "Gentleman Adventurers of Hudson's Bay Company" made one of their first bases where the Government salmon hatchery now is. In 1648, Marquette's missionaries built their little church, which still stands, and went out to preach to Indians and the inhabitants of Labrador. We inhale the freshness of this primitive country with its woods of spruce and balsam, and visit the little church.

But the ship's siren calls and we sail to see the mysteries of the river in the canyon. The blueness of the St. Lawrence vanishes into the black unfathomable waters of the Saguenay. At dusk we glide into St. Alphonse (Bagotville), a typical French Canadian village. We dock for the night and roam about the land of the northern lights.

We wonder if anything can be more beautiful than last night's sunset as the ship cruised down the Saguenay, but this day there is a different beauty—of grandeur and serene loveliness. The rocky walls of the canyon grow higher, reaching their climax in Capes Trinity and Eternity, towering almost 2,000 feet above the dark river. Leaving the majestic Saguenay, we again enter the St. Lawrence and returning to Quebec City traverse the route we had covered yesterday, but with a more appreciative attitude we view the ever changing scenery with its lights and shadows. Late afternoon finds us pulling into Quebec, where we are afforded a magnificent view of this fortified city on the hill as the steamer docks. After dinner we start our homeward journey and sunset finds us in mid-channel, and we arrive in Montreal early next morning.

We are surprised to observe the hustle of a great inland sea harbor, with towering grain elevators and warehouses, and to see ocean steamers from the four corners of the globe berthed along the many miles of harbor. Viewing the ancient buildings and churches on the esplanade we are struck with the surprising contrast to this modern activity which reminds one of a stage setting, contrasting the old with the new. We anticipate exploring this Paris of America, rich in history, which was first visited by Jacques Cartier in 1535.

There will be much to do that day, which will end a trip that has far exceeded all expectations.

Shanta Vasisht Is Appointed State Deputy Minister of Delhi, India

By MRS. H. C. KRUEGER
*Publicity, Loan and Fellowship,
Los Angeles Committee*

Shanta Vasisht, our ever-active Indian fellowship award winner, last June was appointed Deputy Minister of Delhi, India, under Prime Minister Nehru, with the portfolios of Education and Development. She writes, "The work is fascinating as I like rural work and education, but these two departments are very heavy and strenuous."

Included in Shanta's report were a newspaper article and picture taken during a rural function in her territory. The "story behind the news" item should be of interest to all Thetas. A Youngstown, Ohio, history teacher, Miss Esta Barger, became interested in Shanta and her influential position in India. She presented the project of buying a steel plow to her Youngstown pupils; they, in turn, eagerly adopted the idea and saved money from their allowances.

The following quotation from the Delhi State Evening News tells the results of their kind gesture.

"An all-steel plough was presented on Saturday to Mr. Jhumman Singh of the village of Nangal Thakran, by Miss Shanta Vasisht, the State Deputy Minister, on behalf of a group of American school children.

"The plough is a gift from students of the Rayen School, Youngstown, Ohio, and sent to India through their school teacher, who came to this country recently.

"The children, who had saved the money from their pocket allowance, wanted the plough bought with the amount to be given to 'any peasant in India who deserves it.' As Mr. Jhumman Singh had reared a record crop of 62.5 maunds of wheat per acre on his plot of land, the gift was presented to him.

"Though the plough was of a type not commonly used by Indian peasants, Mr. Jhumman Singh, when asked whether he would use it, replied with a twinkle in his eyes, 'I will make great use of it.'

"Presenting the plough, the Deputy Minister told the villagers, gathered for the ceremony, that they should strive to produce more and more food, as that was the first essential to ensure the country's prosperity.

"Miss Vasisht added that though India had been receiving help from foreign countries, she also had been sending help and gifts abroad. In fact, from the time of Ashoka the Great, India had been sending out help to other nations. She felt that such exchanges of goodwill always bore fruit and were conducive to friendship among different nations of the world.

Green Bay Thetas Aid Institute of Logopedics

By DIANN SMITH
Green Bay Alumnæ Club

At the May meeting of the Green Bay Theta Club, 25 Thetas from Green Bay, De Pere, Oconto, and Algoma, Wisconsin concentrated on how to raise money for the Institute of Logopedics. In April our group had shipped a bundle of clothing and incidentals that we hoped would be of use to the children at the Institute. But in our third year as a club, we wanted to do more, much more if possible. That evening we weighed the merits of several ideas and finally agreed to try a benefit style show.

President Marilyn Wood Cushman (William and Mary) appointed Carolyn Wells Breckinridge (Lawrence) general chairman of the project. Helen Storm Tippet (Purdue) and Nancy Nadeau Mortell (Northwestern) were named to boost ticket sales. A suggestion to serve coffee and cookies was popular, and June Selvy Zimonick (Lawrence) and Helen Arvey Minahan (Wisconsin) became social chairmen. Barbara Horner Kaftan (Northwestern) and Diann DeWeese Smith (Beloit) were made publicity heads. The style show was to be held at a local hotel and was to feature women's and children's clothing from three of Green Bay's most fashionable shops. Some of our own children were to model. Adult models were to be selected by the store exhibiting women's clothing. The meeting was adjourned on a note of excitement and determination.

One dollar tickets were sold by all the club members and at the participating stores. Five staggered news stories appeared in the Green

Houston Alumnae Sponsor Antique Show as Benefit

By NELDA CHRISTENSON OSBORNE
Editor, Houston Alumnae Chapter

A very special ailment is currently affecting our Houston Thetas. We've all strained our arms from patting ourselves on the back. Our yearly fund raising project to support the Institute of Logopedics and our local philanthropy, Bay paper. Local radio stations were glad to carry announcements of a benefit show. On a television program six children showed the clothes that they were to model. And Carolyn Breckinridge spoke about the Institute's origin, size, corrective methods, specialized training courses, and needs. Pertinent photographs of handicapped children at the Institute were sent from Central Office to illustrate her lecture.

Climaxing all this activity, the Kappa Alpha Theta Benefit Style Show was presented before a capacity audience.

Two long elegantly appointed refreshment tables flanked the entrance to the large hall. Florence Selmer Loeser (Lawrence), Helen Buker Hundley (Denison) and Josephine Buchanan Lenfesty (Northwestern) acted as hostesses. Gertrude Detjen Jerebek (Lawrence) spoke briefly before the showing to explain the activities of the Institute. Marjorie Harkins Buchanan (Lawrence), Helen Minahan and Marilyn Cushman were among the 15 women who showed fashionable fall costumes to great advantage. Some of their skirts were controversial Dior length.

The children provided some comedy. . . . A three year old boy wept loudly at the top of the ramp in his first outfit but paraded several extra minutes in his second change. A one year old girl liked modeling so well she had to be removed forcibly after her turn in ice blue organdy. Chamber music accompanied the show.

The audience was enthusiastic as they filed out. But the Thetas waited for the big moment when June Zimonick, secretary-treasurer, subtracted expenses from ticket receipts and announced a balance of $165. We were proud to forward a check for that amount to the Institute and were grateful to be able to help.

the research division of the Houston Speech and Hearing Center has been completed with great success.

Why are we so proud? First because we had an original idea; we would sponsor an antique show. Then we started to work hard, renting space in the Shamrock Hotel Hall of Exhibits for three days, October 27, 28, and 29th and lining up our best Houston antique dealers to show their wares. Their enthusiasm was inspiring, and we pitched into what seemed like mountains of detail work on decorations, ticket sales, publicity and organization of hostesses. The size of our undertaking gave us many worried moments, but with such good causes in mind, we found all of Houston coöperating with us. The papers donated space, and our television and radio stations donated time for a phenomenal publicity build-up.

Our money was made from ticket sales alone, each to cost one dollar, and to our gratification the public did respond to the extent of $2,700. Do you blame us for being proud? A check for $1,000 was immediately sent to the Institute of Logopedics at the show's completion.

The exhibitors were equally pleased with their sales and publicity and have insisted that we make this an annual affair.

Too many Thetas gave their time to all be mentioned, but we are especially proud of our president, Lydia Marks Petty (Alpha Chi), and of Virginia Bryant Shilstone (Alpha Theta), the chairman of our show, and her committee chairmen: Mary Margaret Finnegan Perry (Alpha Theta), Ruth Bretch Cocke (Alpha Omicron), Grace Gordon (Alpha Theta), Meador Hamilton Veltman (Alpha Theta), Doris Collie Hall (Beta Beta), Lucy Belle Duncan Gentry (Alpha Omicron), Margaret Bugbee Barkley (Beta Delta), Ruth Farrington Jacobs (Alpha Theta), Mary Ellen Fore Wright (Alpha Theta), Stella Slade Bass (Alpha Theta), and Norma Paylor Bordages (Alpha Theta).

So remember, if you should be anywhere near Houston in the last week of October, 1954, please visit us at our annual Theta Charity Antique Show.

St. Louis Alumnae Produce Talent Sale as "Art"

By EMILY SANKEY MOORE
Editor, St. Louis Alumnae

At a time when the St. Louis Art Museum was exhibiting the famous Van Gogh collection, the Theta alums were planning a collection of their own brand of art. Yes—the same talent sale packaged in such new and glittering wrappings that it was scarcely recognized.

A Theta talent sale is no new thing to St. Louis. A small junior alumnae group gave birth to the idea some ten years ago when each member was asked to bring one or two gifts to the December meeting. These were sold at an auction and in one short evening the little chapter was ninety dollars richer. The junior and senior groups have long since merged into one grand St. Louis Theta Alumnae chapter, and the talent sale has grown into a big business netting $1,650 for the Institute of Logopedics in one afternoon.

The theme of this year's sale was "The Art of Christmas Giving" and each booth came to life as a picture frame of one of our many arts. Some of our titles were: The Art of Home and Garden; The Art of Entertaining; Culinary Arts; Decorative Arts; Juvenile Arts, Art Crafts; etc. The final arrangement, done only in gold and green, and held in Ladue Chapel's lovely reception room was truly a picture. Repeating the color scheme and adding much warmth and friendliness to the scene was the beautiful tea table where our friends could become our guests and not merely prospective customers.

This theme met with great enthusiasm for it not only provided the most attractive setting we've ever had, but proved to be practical as well. With "art" the key word of the bazaar, Anne Perrine Bauer, decoration chairman, was able to interest a great number of well known St. Louis artists in displaying their painting. These paintings the Thetas were permitted to sell on a commission basis, and by this means were able to pay for the entire cost of decorations. The paintings also served as a means of attracting a far wider circle of friends than the usual Theta friends and relatives.

Since the talent sale has been an annual event for several years the mechanics of it are fairly well established. Co-chairman, this year Mrs. William Spenser and Mrs. W. T. McCawley, head the committee. A decoration chairman is appointed also, but much of the success of the sale is due to the combined efforts of each chapter member. Every member is responsible for an individual donation which will sell for two dollars. The chapter is then divided into eight groups with each group cooperating to provide in quantity the articles to be sold, such as: Christmas decorations, aprons, children's toys, cocktail napkins, cook books, lamps, etc. The cost of material to each group is always refunded so that the main cost to the member is her personal time. Credit also should go to the many loyal husbands who have been called upon to use their manly skills. In fact, they have helped so often that they now jokingly refer to themselves as the Theta auxiliary.

Some "firsts" were added to the sale this year and every one proved profitable. The most appealing of the new attractions was the opportunity to have your child sketched for only two dollars. Two very generous college Thetas, enrolled in the Washington University School of Fine Arts, volunteered to do the drawings and their crayons were never still. At times the line of waiting parents and children seemed never ending. For the first time our Theta magazine chairman had a booth placed in a prominent location and sold an amazing number of subscriptions as Christmas gifts. The sale of our Theta lipsticks for the first time earned eighteen dollars. These "firsts" after such success are sure to become permanent features at the bazaar.

Van Gogh paintings and Theta art are now past history to most St. Louisans, but Theta alumnae are still enjoying the satisfaction of a job well done. The realization that the chapter will be able to send $1,050 over our $600 pledge to the Institute of Logopedics will be a lasting pleasure.

Cincinnati Finds Advantages and Handicaps as "Town" School

Alpha Tau Chapter, University of Cincinnati

Alpha Tau chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta is at the University of Cincinnati, a municipal university, supported by the city of Cincinnati, Ohio. Nearly all students live at home in the city and commute daily to and from classes. This situation presents both detriments and advantages to the fraternities on campus. Some of the disadvantages are that we may not always participate in the close life usually afforded by a fraternity dormitory situation; and also, it is often difficult to plan meetings and parties in the evenings or in bad weather when the girls must still travel a distance to reach home.

However, we are fortunate in that the resources of our homes may often be relied upon; and our parents and relatives may often be more included in our activities; and the fact that there is not a large suitable building on campus for social affairs means merely that the clubs and hotels in town are used for fraternity social functions.

The Alpha Taus are fortunate, too, in having a nice house. It has a convenient location to campus and is owned by the Corporation. There are living accommodations for the housemother and for five permanent residents, the usual maximum number of Thetas who live out of town. There is also a bedroom which is rented monthly by the Mothers' Club. This is to be used expressly for the town girls who may wish

Tulsa University and Chapter Both Thrive as Pioneers

By BARBARA BLAKE SMITH

Gamma Tau Chapter, University of Tulsa

Gamma Tau chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta, like the University of Tulsa itself, is a pioneer. It was born and has been bred on the characteristics of pioneers: determination, a sense of humor, a willingness to work. And it dreams big dreams, bigger than even our Theta children will achieve.

We are building a new lodge, and as prices are so high the task has not been an easy one. The lodge, from the beginning, was to be the largest, the most modern, the best lodge on campus. The Mothers' Club and the Alumnæ Chapter have had rummage sales and bazaars; the College Thetas have sold glasses and scrimped and saved for two years. Next month Gamma Tau will hold openhouse in that lodge.

We have strived to be leaders in every branch of school life. We have tried to pioneer ideas and ideals. Gamma Tau's members and pledges are leaders in music. They are seen in plays and heard in choirs. They have been editors of the yearbook and president of many clubs.

Our individuality and ability to combine our talents for a common goal are as important to the success of Theta as they have been to the success of the nation. These qualities have answered, "We will make room," when the remark was whispered, "There is not room for you on the campus." The chapter now celebrates its third birthday.

The University of Tulsa's history began the day President James Madison signed the document ordering the establishment of mission schools in Indian Territory. The college was sponsored by the Presbyterian Mission Board and experienced a rapid growth. The location was changed from Muskogee to Tulsa, the oil capital of the world.

Following World War II, expansion was accelerated. The University now has seven colleges. Eleven new buildings have been constructed since the war, and new equipment has increased educational and operational efficiency.

The University and the chapter are vital, growing things. We want to remain pioneers. After the lodge is finished we Thetas want to build a patio. Likewise, the University wants to remodel the art department. We have vast dreams. But as Browning said, "Ah but a man's grasp should exceed his reach or what's a heaven for."

to spend the night on campus. It accommodates three girls. In this way, the town girls do not have to pay a fee to spend the night, and are assured of a place to stay.

The house is used throughout the day by chapter members for eating lunch, chatting, holding meetings, and relaxing. There can always be found someone in the house for a discussion.

Our chapter usually numbers about 60 girls. A quota system prevails at the University, whereby no sorority may have more than 65 members in its active (and pledge inclusive) chapter. There is also another quota for pledging—only a limited number of freshmen may be pledged, depending upon how many girls sign up for rushing each year. Each sorority, however, may pledge its full quota even if its active chapter will then be over 65 in number. Upperclassmen may be pledged in lieu of freshmen in the quota, or if the quota will not make the chapter exceed 65, additional upperclass pledges may be added.

Our chapter is extremely proud of its current scholastic achievements. Only four years ago, we ranked 13th among the 16 Panhellenic groups. Since that time, we have concentrated on improvement, and this year our pledge class won the Panhellenic trophy for the highest pledge average; and the active chapter placed second. We still hope to improve our record.

Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, Pulitzer Prize Winning Novelist, Dies

Death ended on Dec. 14 the writing career of the 57-year-old Pulitzer Prize winning novelist, Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, an alumna of Psi chapter at the University of Wisconsin. The following biography of the much-acclaimed author is reprinted from the New York Herald Tribune of Dec. 16.

Mrs. Rawlings, a Northerner by birth and an unsuccessful writer during most of her youth, found setting and inspiration when she moved to Florida in 1928. Thereafter most of her novels were about the "Cracker" country of Northern Florida, where she made her home at the tiny village of Cross Creek.

The most successful of these—although all of them received critical acclaim—was "The Yearling," which received the Pulitzer Prize in 1939 and which in 1947 appeared as a motion picture.

The story of a Florida pioneer family in the last century, "The Yearling" had as its main theme the love of a boy for his pet fawn. Critics placed the boy, Jody Baxter, in a gallery with Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn, and the public apparently shared their opinion. The book was translated into most of the world languages, and is still selling well.

NATURALIST

Of its setting, Lewis Gannett wrote in the "New York Herald Tribune": "The smell of the dark cypress water, the luster of magnolia leaves, the sound of the redbirds are real in these glowing pages." Mrs. Rawlings' ability to depict with exactitude the fauna and flora of her adopted country was one of her most noted characteristics, and nature study groups all over the country often used her novels for special study projects.

Born on August 8, 1896, in Washington, D.C., Mrs. Rawlings was the daughter of Arthur Frank Kinnan, a patent attorney with the government, and Mrs. Ida May Traphagen Kinnan. From her father, with whom she used to roam the Maryland hills, the young girl received a deep and near-mystic love of nature which was later to be reflected in her books.

At the University of Wisconsin she received the inspired teaching of William Ellery Leonard and a B.A. degree in 1918. For the next ten years she performed a variety of publicity and newspaper jobs, including ones as a sob sister for "The Louisville Courier-Journal" and "The Rochester-Journal." She disliked this work, feeling that it was "scrappy and always in a hurry," but was not encouraged by a series of rejected manuscripts to leave it. Then in 1926, she visited Florida. In 1928 she bought a seventy-acre orange grove of some 4,000 trees at Cross Creek, Hawthorn, and the following year went there to live with her husband, Charles Rawlings, to whom she was married in 1919. They were divorced in 1933.

Mrs. Rawlings had almost given up writing when she moved to Florida, but her neighbors at Cross Creek made her want to start afresh.

"I had met only two or three of the neighboring Crackers when I realized that isolation had done something to these people," she wrote later. "Rather, perhaps, civilization had remained too remote, physically and spiritually, to take from them something vital. They have a primal quality against their background of jungle hammock, moss-hung, against the tremendous silence of the scrub country. The only ingredients of their lives are the elemental things. They are a people of dignity; speaking often in Chaucerian phrases; aloof; but friendly and neighborly once even a Yankee has proved himself not too hopelessly alien."

"JACOB'S LADDER"

Mrs. Rawlings began to put them on paper. In 1931 "Jacob's Ladder," her first story with a Florida setting won a prize in the Long Story Contest in "Scribner's" magazine. In 1933 "Gal Young Un" received the O. Henry Short Story Award, and the same year saw the publication of her first novel, "South Moon Under," which was a Book-of-the-Month Club selection.

In 1935 Mrs. Rawlings published "Golden

Apples," set in her orange grove. With the publication of the "The Yearling" in 1938 Mrs. Rawlings came into her own as an outstanding American novelist.

"When the Whippoorwill," a collection of short stories, appeared in 1940; "Cross Creek," a factual account of her move to the little town, in 1942, and "Cross Creek Cookery"—Mrs. Rawlings was an ardent gourmet—later the same year. Her last book, "The Sojourner," was published in January, 1953.

"LUMINOUS FABLE"

This book, which was called by one critic "a luminous fable of man, affirmative and hopeful," was Mrs. Rawlings' first novel with a Northern setting. In order to write it she bought an old farmhouse in 1947 near Van Hornesville, N.Y., where she stayed for six or seven months every year. At the time of her death she was working on a biography of the novelist Ellen Glasgow.

Although she sat at her typewriter eight or nine hours a day, Mrs. Rawlings worked slowly and painfully. Six pages of typescript at the end of a day was a good output, she felt, and three was satisfactory. Once she said that "writing is agony."

Mrs. Rawlings was married in 1941 to Norton Baskin, hotel and restaurant manager of St. Augustine, who survives. A brother, Arthur Kinnan, of Seattle, Wash., also survives.

Indiana Thetas Have Fun in Egg Race

Not to be outdone by the Speedway 500 mile race in Indianapolis, or the Little 500 bicycle race in Bloomington, the Indiana University Thetas challenged the Delta Gammas to an annual "Little Little 500."

Last May 10 many fans went to Eighth Street and Woodlawn Avenue to watch the Thetas again defeat the D.G.s in their third traditional eight-lap egg race.

Each of the four members of both teams takes a double lap on a bicycle, while carrying an egg in a spoon in one free hand. The object of the race is to ride both laps and make the turn in the greatest speed without breaking the egg. Points are given for all errors, and the team having the least number of points is awarded the traditional egg-beater trophy.

Already the three returning riders of the Theta team are planning for this year's Little Little 500, and truly believe that they will make the fourth race the best.

Colonel R. T. Shoemaker, Dean of Students, served as official scorekeeper and awarded the winning trophy to the Theta team this year. William Armstrong, executive director of the I.U. Foundation and general chairman of the Indiana University Little 500, said at the end of the Little Little 500, "The race was wonderful and certainly adds interest to the Little 500 program."

Delta Takes Her Bows

By DORIS DREW, Editor
Delta Chapter, University of Illinois

Hop aboard with the ATOs and Thetas.
See our show, it's the greatest by far.
You can't go wrong, so come and get your ticket
On the Nothing Special railroad car!

This was the theme song for a show that brought first place honors to the Thetas at Illinois last spring. We and our ATO partners, like some 50 other houses on campus, began months in advance to prepare a show for the biggest all-campus social event of the spring semester, Spring Carnival.

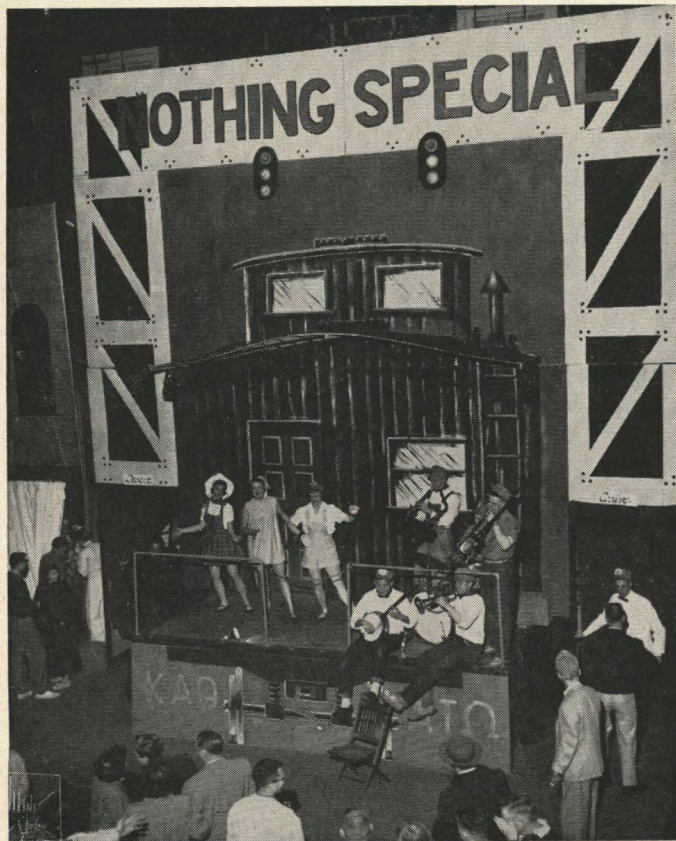

Spring Carnival is sponsored by the Illini Union, and all the final proceeds go to the Campus Chest. This nonprofit organization allocates these proceeds to various world-wide charities. Last year a sum of nearly $15,000 was raised during the one night in which Spring Carnival was held, and we Thetas were proud to be a part of this great success.

It is difficult to describe the carnival to a spectator, except possibly through the effects that it has upon our chapter. Every member of the chapter has some part in the show, whether she be script writer, dancer, costume designer, publicity worker, or what have you. The jobs connected with the entire show are dependent upon each other. They work in a dynamic progression of dependency until the whole chapter finds its individual members working in full strength and cooperation with each other towards the final goal—a winning show.

Last year we reached that goal. Our winner was a walk-through type of side show with six booths, which represented parodies on railroad terminology. The trophy that we won meant little to us, however, when we reflected on the way in which our teamwork within the house and with the ATOs strengthened our house unity and our inter-house relations.

We were doubly thrilled this fall when we found that we had been tops in scholarship on

Royer Twins Made Twin Records as Leaders at Idaho

By MARIE BRAMMER, Editor
Beta Theta Chapter, University of Idaho

"They're just like two peas in a pod!" Yes, that is what everyone says about the Royer twins, alumnæ since last June, of Beta Theta chapter. They are so much alike that even the girls they lived with at the Theta house got confused.

Jean Marion and Ann Marjorie moved to Boise, Idaho as 14-year-olds. After keeping people guessing at Boise High School and Boise Junior College, Jean and Ann transferred to the University of Idaho where they became members of Beta Theta.

Activities and studies kept Jean and Ann busy for three full years. Jean received the Theta ring for the highest grades in her pledge class of 23, as well as serving as its vice president. She was house Panhellenic delegate, and Ann kept up the house budget while serving as treasurer. Their junior year, Ann and Jean were chosen for Beta Theta's top offices, president and vice president, respectively.

Campus political and social life also attracted the twins. Both were members of the campus radio station, KUOI, staff for two years, as well as on the school paper, the Argonaut. Sports invited them to be members of Ski Club and Women's Recreation Association.

The junior class elected Ann as its treasurer. She was chairman of the Student Union Committee, and Jean was chairman of the Student Events Council.

Ann and Jean both chose to major in Business Administration and Secretarial Studies.

Their high grade point averages led to their tapping for Phi Chi Theta, national women's business honorary, of which Jean later became president.

Realizing the efforts of Jean and Ann, Mortar Board tapped them at the May Fete to climax outstanding years at the University. In June, both girls were graduated with high honors, Ann maintaining a 3.91, and Jean a 3.87 scholastic average for four college years.

Then once again they made a double appearance—this time as principals in a double wedding on August 16. The girls were wed to two Delta Tau Delta fraternity brothers from the University of Idaho, who were their house president and vice president, no less.

campus that same semester. Yes, even though we sacrificed hours, weeks, and even months of our time to Spring Carnival, our all-house "B" average took the Panhellenic scholarship trophy from the other 26 sororities on our campus.

No one really believed that it was possible for a house to have a winning carnival show and excellent grades in the same semester, but we just kept saying, "It can be done;" and we did it!

Beloit Homecoming Decorations Win Again

By RITA RUDY

Editor, Gamma Lambda Chapter

For the fourth consecutive year, all the Gamma Lambda Thetas at Beloit College screamed with joy as we were again presented the Homecoming House Decorations Cup. Under the able chairmanship of Joan Gable, we met the challenge of continuing our uninterrupted tradition. We were determined that Homecoming should be "Theta Day."

Because our house does not particularly lend itself to decorations, we relied mostly upon size, movable apparatus, and sound effects for recognition.

"Our Spirits Sparkle" was developed by highlighting a 23-foot bottle of "Beloit Vintage," pouring "spirits" into a sparkling glass. For that all-important action, we owe our thanks to a bubble machine inside the glass and to our pledges who produced a gurgling sound over a public address system!

Winning themes from previous years were: "We're Expect'n to Win," a stork being the center of attraction; "We Spin to Win," featuring a spider crawling on a gigantic web covering the entire frontage of the house, and "We'll Wilt Washburn," with an enormous crying sunflower to represent the opposing Kansas team. (Thank you again, pledges, for sound effects!)

Rush Dates at Illinois Set for May and June

All Thetas who know of prospective rushees planning to attend the University of Illinois next year should take note of the fact that rush there is set for May and June, not next fall.

The chapter's rush for Chicago girls will be May 21, 22, and 23. For other girls it will be June 12 to 17.

Send your recommendations now to Illinois' rush chairman, Barbara Huth, at 611 E. Daniel, Champaign, Illinois.

During the past two summer seasons, Wendy has been in several of the Theatre Under the Stars Performances which are produced in Vancouver's famous Stanley Park. In this season's series Wendy starred in "The Desert Song" and did chorus work and minor roles in "Song of Norway," "Rose Marie," and "Kiss Me, Kate."

Just one year ago, talented Wendy was cast in "The Late Christopher Bean," starring Zazu Pitts and her company. During the 1952-53 winter season, Wendy played in one of the productions of the Totem Theatre, the first arena styled theater in Canada. She also sang with a local operatic group in "The Pirates of Penzance."

This past spring Wendy did radio work on the national radio network, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, over station CBU.

When James Melton performed in Vancouver, Wendy was one of his guest artists. Mr. Melton was much impressed with Wendy and, when requesting an encore, exclaimed, "There stands a star!"

Virginia Dupies Carves Career in Oil Industry

The following article about Virginia Dupies, an alumna of Beta Sigma chapter at Southern Methodist University, appeared in the 1953 issue of Dallas, a magazine published by the Dallas, Tex. Chamber of Commerce.

Virginia has served as president of the Dallas Alumnae chapter, and also has served for three years on the Theta Educational Foundation of Beta Sigma chapter. She was treasurer of the Foundation one year and has just completed a year as its president.

Here's a gal who knows that a Christmas tree is not always a sturdy creation of Mother Nature, growing on a hillside.

More often than not, if Virginia Dupies talks about one of these things in July or October instead of December, it is in connection with her job as secretary to the executive vice president of The Continental (oil well) Supply Company. And the Christmas tree she has in mind is a creation of pipe and valves and fittings which head up a completed oil well.

Such terms and many more like them are "old hat" to Virginia, who could easily author a first-rate primer on oil well drilling equipment terms. She'd have the talent for writing it to interest the lay reader, too, since she instructed in journalism at S.M.U. after receiving her B.S. and B.A. degrees there. That was during the depression years and making the transition to private secretary was not too difficult a decision.

Miss Dupies' job isn't all a matter of writing letters and greeting visitors who call on her boss, Frank I. Brinegar. She might be classed as a sort of "parade marshal" for her company since she handles detail for annual sale meetings, special parties for which Continental Supply is host, and she has been the Girl Friday to such organizations as Dallas Petroleum Club and Brook Hollow Golf Club while Mr. Brinegar served as president of those organizations. Even after his term expired, she continued as assistant secretary of the Petroleum Club for four years, so that, between this affiliation and her full-time job at Continental she knows by name most of the petroleum industry leaders of the Southwest.

Although she denies emphatically that she is the "club woman" type, Miss Dupies early realized the importance to the oil industry of the new national association of Desk and Derrick Clubs, composed of women in this industry. So she became a charter member when the Dallas club was organized two years ago, and is now completing her term as second president of the group.

She points with pride to the fact that the club inaugurated its new scholarship plan for women geology and petroleum engineering students at S.M.U. during the year in which she has served as president. The first scholarship has just been awarded for the 1953-54 term.

She is also pleased with the outstanding programs served up during 1953 to the oil women who are members of this education-minded club.

"Our purpose is to promote a clearer understanding of the industry in which we work, so that it will benefit our companies and our members, has been served by speeches and programs comprising some of the outstanding oil men in the Southwest including Mr. Frank M. Porter, president of the American Petroleum Institute, New York City, who has addressed the membership.

"But it isn't all work and no play," she adds quickly. "We've had some wonderful field trips! Like the visit to the offshore drilling rig in Laguna Madre off the Coast near Corpus Christi, and the all-day trip through installations and refineries in East Texas. We learned a lot, but we had fun too."

The Dallas club took an active part in Oil Progress Week this year, as last, and has sponsored radio and television programs, in addition to window displays and speakers for civic groups on the subject of oil.

And spear-heading the activities this year was the gal from Continental who boasts of being one of the few native Dallasites in the club, although her name implies French ancestry. "That's from Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, a French community where my Father was born," she explains. "As for me, I'm a Dallasite and Texan all the way, from birth up."

That includes schooling too. Virginia was one of those Highland Park lassies who donned kilts during high school football season to perform for pep rallies and football games wherever the Scotties played during the early '30s. But she spent more years in high school than college—graduated in three and one-half years at S.M.U. Graduated in journalism, only to find her forte in the growing and glamorous field of petroleum, helping to run a company which deals in everything from snake-bite kits and safety helmets to draw-works for million-dollar drilling rigs.

And whether it is a matter of arranging for service, or sale of a derrick or drill collar, the vice president's secretary back in the Dallas headquarters of some 82 Continental stores and offices from Casper to Maracaibo can take the message or handle an order in driller's language if the "boss" is out.

Pat Kelley Gets Start in Show Business

By MARY KATHRYN MURPHY
Editor, Gamma Deuteron Chapter

Broadway lights beckoned a Theta away from our chapter last summer. Many of you may have seen our Pat Kelley as a member of the chorus of the musical comedy, "Wish You Were Here." Pat, who was a sophomore Gamma deut last year, joined the cast in August.

In December, "Wish You Were Here" moved to Chicago and took Pat with it. For the Chicago showing, she was chosen "cover girl"—that's her picture you see on all the posters.

Pat had considerable experience in both dramatic and musical performances at Ohio Wesleyan. Last spring she won the state Women's Interpretative Reading contest in Ohio. And of course, Gamma deuteron constantly welcomed her talents for skits and solos.

Pat Kelley

Last spring Pat auditioned in New York, even though she was planning to return to Wesleyan. There she met the director of the famed Bucks County Playhouse in Pennsylvania, who asked her to come there as an apprentice last summer. While doing all the odd jobs assigned to the apprentices, she was the only apprentice who earned a role in a play.

She had been home from Bucks County only a week when an offer came from New York to join the cast of "Wish You Were Here." Naturally, Pat couldn't turn down such an opportunity, so at the end of August, she left for New York to begin her theater career. She appeared with the show for three months in New York. After "Wish You Were Here" closes in Chicago, she plans to return to New York.

Pat began her career with a minor role in the chorus, but she has been rapidly gaining more and more responsibilities. When the show opened in Chicago, she had several speaking lines, a solo singing line and a song number with two other girls.

Several times Pat has been recognized by the director and other actors for the original mannerisms and reactions she uses. "It's fun to think of new and natural ways of doing things," she says. "Some of the players get bored doing the same thing over and over the same way. I promised myself not to drop into that rut."

Although Pat is finding theater life and theater people "fascinating," she hasn't forgotten Theta. In one letter to our chapter last fall, she drew a comparison between Theta and a Broadway show, which we wanted to share with other Thetas:

"Theta to the new girls—when they are just pledged and before, when they are being rushed—is like watching a Broadway show. The people in it are almost untouchable it seems, and the whole thing seems like such a complete, magical unit. But when you get into the thing, acquire responsibilities, and begin to see the 'untouchable,' 'perfect' people as human beings with faults, you begin to realize that it isn't so magical—it's real and it requires honest work to keep it alive . . .

"You contribute yourself to something because you like contributing to it. You think it's a cause worthwhile enough for you to give a little of yourself. And do you know, when each person does that, the organization, the cause, the show or sorority becomes even more worthwhile to give to."

Rose Carson Is Donor to Historical Society

Miss Rose Carson of Lincoln, Nebr., an alumna of Rho chapter at the University of Nebraska, is the donor of furnishings for a parlor in the new headquarters of the Nebraska State Historical Society on the University of Nebraska campus.

The new headquarters building is to house a "story museum" of Nebraska. One gallery will be devoted to pre-settler days—Indian exhibits, explorers, fur traders, and missionaries. Another gallery will contain displays of the period of white occupation, from the time of the first white settlers to the present.

A special gallery will be dedicated to the men and women who settled the state. Here will be the parlor given by Miss Carson. It is to be known as the Capt. John L. and Mary Carson Parlor.

Capt. Carson brought his bride to Nebraska in 1863 and located in Brownville where he entered the banking business. He later moved to Lincoln where he became president of the First National Bank. He died in 1897.
